DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 13-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. See explanation below.
3. Claims 13-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the disclosed invention is inoperative and therefore lacks utility.

Alternatively

The claims are nonfunctional descriptive material, per se. There is no computer-readable medium recited and even if there was a medium, the information recited, i.e. "first record", "second record", "first graphical representation" is not functional descriptive material. In other words, this is not directed to an executable program or a data structure that would control a computer, it is just a collection of data stored on a computer readable medium. Such collection of data is not capable of imparting functionality when acted upon by a computer.

Based upon the foregoing analysis, the claims 13-30 recites non-statutory subject matter are accordingly rejected under 35 USC 101.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3693

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claim 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Burakoff et al. (US Pat. 7028190) (hereafter Burakoff).

As per claim Burakoff teaches a Method and System for delivery of sensitive information. As such Burakoff teaches critical steps of the invention including the first exercise, the second exercise and the third exercise by the recipient of the sensitive information. (Please refer to DESCRIPTION and Figure 5). In this manner, all process steps if the claimed invention are explicitly disclosed or inherent in the Burakoff reference.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.

Art Unit: 3693

4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
8. Claims 13-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burakoff.

As per claim 1 analysis, Burakoff teaches all functional elements of claim 13.

Burakoff fails teach that the process is presented in a form of graphical representation of various data structure communicated using programmed computer modules.

Official Notice is taken that communicating commercial transaction data and other information in the form of graphical information and allowing the recipient of the information to access via graphical display is old and well known.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to modify Burakoff by implementing graphical representation of various data structures required in the electronic delivery system and recited in the instant claims because this would facilitate easy access to the information and more efficient and faster response to the requested information from the recipient of the sensitive information.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
